POLICE BARRED A WOMAN'S HOME.

MRS. STEWING ACCUSES SERGT.
WALSH OF CLUBBING HER.

ARRESTED ALL HER BOARDERS.

Police Were After a Red-Headed
Urchin Who Had Stolen
Some Scrap-Iron.

Two weeks ago a red-headed boy named Jimmy Ahearn, without a home, applied to Mrs. Mary Stewing for shelter. Mrs. Stewing kept a boarding-house at 213 Ferry street, and she gave the lad permission to sleep in the barn. Until last Saturday the boy was glad to sleep in the barn and eat what he could get from the back door of the boarding-house. Mrs. Stewing has a daughter, Tillie, slender and 18. Nellie Hunter, 16 years old, is the servant, and Mrs. Little Reed, a deserted bride, with a 3-year-old child, is a charity boarder.

Friday afternoon Jimmy Ahearn and George Stewing, a 13-year-old son of the landlady, picked up about 20 pounds of scrap iron in a deserted saw mill on the river. They took the iron to the barn in the rear of Mrs. Stewing's house, and then the police began looking for Jimmy Ahearn.

At 7 p. m. Saturday Patrolman Flemming desired to arrest Jimmy, but James Reed, and the officer fired three shots. One of the bullets came near taking a finger off the officer's left hand. He wrapped the finger in a handkerchief and said that Ahearn had broken it.

At 8 p. m. Saturday Mrs. Stewing was kneading dough in the kitchen and Mrs. Reed and Nellie Hunter were washing dishes. Tillie Stewing was sitting in a chair talking to the others. Jimmy Ahearn was leaning against the banisters.

In the dining-room adjoining the kitchen, sat Fred Little, a moulder, and an acquaintance he had brought to supper.

A little after 8 o'clock the hap on the kitchen door leading into the back yard was broken and the door opened with a bang. Sergt. Walsh and Patrolman McDonald of the Fifth Police District stepped in. Mrs. Stewing entered the room without a word.

"You shut your fat face, or we will take you too," said the sergeant, as he made a dive for Jimmy Ahearn.

The boy held a revolver and the sergeant began rapping his knuckles with a club. When blood began to flow from the boy's hands Mrs. Stewing could stand it no longer. She grabbed the sergeant by the coat and tried to pull him away from the boy.

A NERVY JUDGE.

Orders a Kentucky Murderer Held and Takes a Bold Stand Against Lynchers.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 12.—Charles Taylor, colored, confessed last evening to the murder of Nellie Stepp, the kidnapping of whom he has been under arrest. He said that on Christmas night he outraged and murdered the girl and buried her remains.

The body of the girl, badly decomposed, was found this morning on the Trumbo place, where Taylor said he had placed it, with a large rock and pile of cedar over it. There is still talk of lynching, but it is hardly probable in view of the firm stand of Judge Williams, who ordered Taylor sent to Lexington for safe-keeping. While the sheriff was waiting at the depot with a messenger came from Circuit Judge Cantrell ordering the prisoner back to jail.

Judge Cantrell ordered Sheriff Armstrong and Mayor Julian summoned before his court. There he stated to the sheriff that if he had been reported to him that an attempt would be made to mob Taylor, he would have ordered the sheriff to take him to jail.

"You, Mr. Sheriff, are the peace officer of this county, and I hereby authorize you to summon sufficient aid to protect this prisoner from any mob that may attempt to take him by force. I shall assist you in every way possible. Report to me the result of your efforts. I shall be in the city, and I shall be with you, and there shall be no lynching."

Finally the clock struck 9, the time set for Taylor's departure on the train. The situation was aggravating to Chief Deputy Huebner. He had no papers that would justify him in returning Stevens to jail, because he had been dismissed by Judge Murphy.

The proper authority was not on hand to take Stevens prisoner, so after a tedious wait of four hours young Stevens was set at liberty, and Capt. Huebner went home. Stevens left the Four Courts with alacrity, and has not been seen since.

While Capt. Huebner was guarding young Stevens Sheriff Sampson was acquiring luminous ink with bay windows, cupolas and skylights. He patronized the Southern Hotel until he had a foundation of straight whisky. At Tony Faust's he got a superstructure of beer.

IOWA SHERIFF'S FALL FROM GRACE.

LOST HIS PRISONER AND SLEPT
IN THE CALABOOSSE.

HE MIXED WHISKY AND BEER.

Lester Stevens Is at Liberty Because Sheriff C. C. Sampson Overestimated His Capacity.

C. C. Sampson, Sheriff at Algona, Kosciusko County, Ia., came to St. Louis on Tuesday to take charge of Lester Stevens, who was held here as a fugitive from justice. Stevens is but 19 years old, and is wanted at Algona on a charge of betraying a young girl.

When Sheriff Sampson made his mission known to young Stevens the prisoner consented to return to Algona and dispensed with the necessity of requisition papers. Stevens was to have been given a hearing in Judge Murphy's Court Tuesday as a fugitive from justice. It was represented to the court that the young man was willing to accompany the sheriff to Iowa and the case was dismissed. The youth was placed under charge of Chief Deputy Anton Huebner, who agreed to take care of him until Sheriff Sampson came for him at 5 p. m.

Capt. Huebner sat in his office with young Stevens all afternoon. Five o'clock came, but no Sheriff Sampson. Capt. Huebner struck and all the deputies left the room for their evening meal. Capt. Huebner was left alone with the prisoner. Six o'clock struck and then the captain thought all kinds of unkind things about Mr. Sampson as he lingered over the memory of the good meal which was being spread for him at home. Two hours passed and no sign of Sheriff Sampson. Eight o'clock came without result.

Finally the clock struck 9, the time set for Stevens' departure on the train. The situation was aggravating to Chief Deputy Huebner. He had no papers that would justify him in returning Stevens to jail, because he had been dismissed by Judge Murphy.

HARDER TO DIE THAN HE THOUGHT.

CHARLES BELL SWALLOWS A QUANTITY OF ROUGH-ON-RATS.

HIS CONDITION PRECARIOUS.

Wrote a Note to the Post-Dispatch
Telling of His Desire for Death,
But Now He Wants to Live.

At 10 o'clock Tuesday night Charles Bell was convinced that he was a martyr; at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning he was perfectly certain that he was a fool; by 10 o'clock Wednesday night he was very liable to be a corpse.

Bell's romantic nature, mixed with a yearning for much beer, is the cause of his troubles. He was sure he loved his wife despite the fact that he occasionally chased her around their home with a barrel stove. He was two juries sure that she did not love him, because she said that she would be better off if he were dead.

Therefore he decided to die in the most approved manner, for his beloved wife's sake. He swallowed "Rough on Rats" and is now in the City Hospital.

Bell is a plumber. He lives with his wife at 708 Gratiot street, and Monday night he sat down at the kitchen table and wrote four notes. Three of them he tore up. The fourth he addressed to the Post-Dispatch.

The note was taken to the Four Courts last night. It was received Wednesday morning and read as follows:

Jan. 11, 1897.—Please publish these few lines. I no longer care to live. I wish it to be known that I have decided to die. I am giving my life for one I love dearly. My lawful wife, Mrs. Bell, together with four years, but now she has wronged me and I can stand it no longer. She has taken my life and now she wants to take mine. I have decided to die. I am giving my life for one I love dearly. My lawful wife, Mrs. Bell, together with four years, but now she has wronged me and I can stand it no longer.

TRIED TO KILL A DETECTIVE.

AL DREWER SAYS HE THOUGHT
HOODLUMS HAD CALLED.

A DUEL THROUGH A DOOR.

Steamboatman Who Has Killed Two Men Sent a Bullet Close to Detective Allender.

Al Drew, who is responsible for the death of two men, nearly sent Detective Sam Allender to his death Tuesday night. The detective had information that the house at 1829 North Broadway was occupied by several well-known thieves and crooks who were wanted. It was nearly midnight when Allender was detailed on the case. He called on Special Officers Kelleher and Bambrick to assist him.

The detectives went to the front door and knocked boldly. The gruff voice of a man from within demanded to know who his visitors were. Detectives Allender and Kelleher were standing side by side when the door was cautiously opened. Allender pushed his foot in the opening and grasped the knob.

As he did so, a hand holding a revolver was standing within a foot of each other when the shot was fired. The bullet sped between them, striking the door.

Drew was seen in the holdover Wednesday morning. He admits the shooting, but says he did not know the men were officers. He says when they first knocked he started to open the door and one of them grabbed him by the wrist and started to drag him into the street. He thought they were a gang of hoodlums and he shot at them to alarm the police.

The officers called upon the inmates to open the door. He admits the shooting, but says he did not know the men were officers. He says when they first knocked he started to open the door and one of them grabbed him by the wrist and started to drag him into the street.

FLURRY ON THE CUBAN QUESTION.

DEBATE IN MISSOURI HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

OBJECTIONS BY BITTINGER.

Prominent Subjects Up Now Are the Coercion of Voters and Two-Cent Railroad Fare.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 12.—The feature of the House proceedings to-day was a spirited debate on the Cuban question. The subject was brought up in connection with Representative Johnson's resolution favoring the early recognition of Cuba by the United States. Representative Bohart, also has a resolution of like import, joint and concurrent, which is already in the hands of the Committee on Federal Relations.

The mention of Cuba was the signal for a vast volume of speeches. Representative Lee of Carter County said he was in favor of any resolution advocating the cause of Cuban independence. Representative Bohart, who introduced a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of three to investigate and report a bill designed to prevent coercion of voters more effectively than is now possible. The resolution was adopted without opposition.

In the House this morning the resolutions were read asking for prompt legislation in the way of securing a 2-cent per mile fare on railroads. The petitions were from citizens in many different parts of the State, and much argument was produced to show that rates ought to be lowered. All such petitions were referred to the Committee on Internal Improvements. The general belief is that the House will pass the 2-cent bill without delay.

Among the House bills introduced were: By Smith of St. Louis: An act to allow the owners of land to sue for damages brought suit in Justice courts and prosecute without being compelled to give bond. By Representative Johnson: An act to enable owners of land to drain and reclaim when the same cannot be done without draining the land of others.

By Representative Cox: An act to protect the right of a fish and game warden to provide for the appointment of a Game Warden.

By Representative Dyer: An act to establish trial by jury in cases of contempt of court, and restricting the power of judges and courts in contempt proceedings.

By Representative McCollum: An act to amend the act to provide for the appointment of a Game Warden.

By Representative Bohart: An act to make investigation of coercion in accordance with the Bohart resolution.

THE SENATE.
Kansas City Police Department Up for Consideration.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 12.—The principal matter before the Senate to-day was a resolution asking that a committee be appointed to investigate the charges of corruption in the Kansas City Police Department. Senator Vandiver moved to reconsider the resolution and the debate continued until late in the evening.

By Senator Young: An act to secure attorneys compensation for legal services performed in cases where, after suit is brought, the plaintiff and defendant settle or compromise the matter out of court.

By Senator Schweickhardt: An act to make telephone charges for a year within four miles outside the city limits, and no extra charge shall be made within such city limits.

Finally the Senate took a recess until 3 o'clock without having decided on pending motion concerning the Kansas City Police. This fight is growing warmer every hour and it is far the main event of the day. The Police Police Julian and other Kansas City people are here to watch the proceedings.

One of the most important departures made by the Senate Committee on Rules is a rule which refers all appointments made by the Governor to a special committee for consideration before appointments are made upon by the whole body. This rule was reported this morning and was adopted along with other rules.

PROTEST AGAINST HIGGINS.
Matter to Wait Until the Governor Visits St. Louis.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 12.—Gov. Stephens is in receipt of a voluminous petition from St. Louis people asking him not to appoint Charles P. Higgins Excise Commissioner at St. Louis. The excise contest is rapidly becoming spirited. It is the general belief here among well-informed politicians that the Governor will give the petition due consideration. The Governor stated to-day that he would hold the Excise Commissioner appointment under advisement until after he makes a trip to St. Louis, which it is presumed will be at an early date.
